The history of the volume is similar. The volume first became public in 1920 with the publication of the first part. The second part was published in 1921, but this time appeared in the magazine Wanita Indonesia (Women Indonesia), which explains that the theory of women's rights in Indonesia was a feature of the period. Two years later, with the publication of the third part of the volume (1925 Å 1926), Toer returns to Bahasa Indonesia and, as the name suggests, the focus is on gender equality, in particular as it relates to women's rights and the position of Indonesian women. After 24 years of hiding, the fourth part of the volume, with a preface by the author published in 1946, is released (23 Å24). The book was banned under the State of Emergency issued by Indonesian President Sukarno in 1950, but only 15 years later (1965 Å 1969) Toer was able to release the fifth part of the volume, a book that once again to encourage people to write in their own language. In 1989, the volume reached final version, the sixth and last part, published after the author's death in 1998. As stated in the book's preface, it is the first volume of the main collection of the writings of Pramoedya Ananta Toer, Indonesia: writings of a people.
